About the Catalog

The National Renewable Energy Laboratory's (NREL) eighth annual Information Resources Catalog can help keep you up-to-date on the research, development, opportunities, and available technologies in energy efficiency and renewable energy. The catalog includes five main sections with entries grouped according to subject area.

Most of the publications in this catalog—and many others on energy efficiency and renewable energy—can be found on Web sites developed and/or maintained by NREL. The first section provides a listing of these “Internet Resources,” which is especially helpful if you’d like to access information quickly. You can also access the latest information using these resources. A good place to start a search for information is on NREL’s Publications Database at www.nrel.gov/publications/.

The second section provides brief descriptions of the “General Interest Publications” produced by NREL during its 2000 fiscal year. These publications highlight the advances in energy efficiency and renewable energy technologies, as well as the NREL and U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) programs that encourage their advancement and use.

The last three sections in the catalogue—“Technical Reports,” “Conference Papers, Journal Articles, Book Chapters,” and “Patents”—can help the research community and industry stay updated on the latest innovations from NREL’s labs.

We hope you find this catalog useful and informative.

About the National Renewable Energy Laboratory

NREL is DOE’s premier laboratory for renewable energy and energy efficiency research, development, and deployment. The Laboratory is a national resource committed to leadership, excellence, and innovation in renewable energy and related technologies.

NREL conducts research in photovoltaics, wind energy, building energy efficiency, biofuels, hybrid vehicles, fuels utilization, biomass power, hydrogen, concentrating solar power, geothermal power, and superconductivity. Advances made in these research areas enable the private sector to make informed choices from a number of energy options.

Key to NREL’s mission is facilitating the transfer of these technologies to private industry for commercialization. We do this by cooperating with industry through cost-shared agreements, collaborating with universities and other researchers, and making facilities available for experiments, analyses, and proprietary studies.

NREL is managed for DOE by Midwest Research Institute, Battelle, and Bechtel.
